

Danaher Comments on Leica Geosystems' Press Release and Announcement of Neutrality

PRNewswire-FirstCall
WASHINGTON

Danaher Corporation ("Danaher") notes today's press release from Leica Geosystems Holdings AG ("Leica") and the fact that the Board of directors of Leica " ... will, based on the currently available information, adopt a neutral position as between the Danaher Offer and the Improved Hexagon Offer." Danaher also acknowledges the mutually agreed termination of its transaction agreement with Leica.

Danaher confirms that its offer of CHF500 in cash per Leica share remains open for acceptance and according to the Takeover Regulations will be extended to coincide with Hexagon's offer, currently requested by Hexagon to close on the 23rd September 2005.

Danaher continues to believe that Leica's shareholders should carefully consider the underlying value of Hexagon's offer. Danaher has raised a number of issues concerning the underlying value of the shares offered by Hexagon in its revised offer, including the liquidity of the Hexagon shares, Hexagon's high net debt levels following the offer and the inferior voting rights of the Hexagon B shares. In addition, Hexagon has still not clarified the impact of its proposed rights issue on Leica shareholders who accept the Hexagon offer and the fact that such accepting shareholders may be required to reinvest up to CHF37 per Leica share in additional Hexagon B shares to avoid dilution.

Danaher Corporation is a leading manufacturer of Professional Instrumentation, Industrial Technologies, and Tools and Components. (<http://www.danaher.com/>)
